Double Patenting

1.0 The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2.0 Claims 19, 23-29, and 31 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 20-29 of U. S. Patent No. 6,795,451 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows:

Referring to claim 19, the Patent No.: 6,795,451; henceforth, called the reference teaches all of the limitations of claim 19 in claims 20, 21, & 23.

Regarding claim 23, claim 22 of the reference teaches all of the limitations.

Regarding claim 24, claim 23 of the reference teaches all of the limitations.

Regarding claim 25, claim 22 of the reference teaches n parallel channels. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make n=4 for a specific design.

Regarding claim 26, claim 24 of the reference teaches all of the limitations.

Regarding claim 27, claims 25, 28, & 29 of the reference teaches all of the limitations.

Regarding claim 28, the reference teaches all of the limitations of claim 19 except a protocol group consisting of datacom, telecom, fiber channel, SONET, SDH, and Gigabit Ethernet but teaches synchronization. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time that the group consist of datacom, telecom, fiber channel, SONET, SDH, and Gigabit Ethernet utilize the method of the reference teaches they all require synchronization.

Art Unit: 2661

Referring to claim 29, the reference teaches all of the limitations of claim 19 in claims 20, 21, & 23 except for a transmitter but teaches a repeater and a decoder.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention that a transmitter would have been required because a decoder cannot perform its function unless it receives something from a transmitter to decode.

Regarding claim 31, claims 20, 21, & 23 teach all of the limitations of claim 31.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968).

See also MPEP § 804.

Response to Amendment

3.0 Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 19, 23-29, and 31 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The applicant's arguments are considered moot because of double patenting issues. Refer to the above rejections for details.
